Incidents Tend to Show
Food Administrator
Will Not Survive
Six Months

BL. PAUL HANNA.
Federated Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Herbert Hoover's spring flowers have been caught in a frost. There are men in Washington who say he will not survive six months as a member of the Harding cabinet, and that when he is withered and dead as his worst and many enemies could desire.

These foes, of whom Sen. Boies Penrose is not the least, are chuckling today over the way Hoover has played a champion's role by accepting an office and men who have plotted his elimination from public life and who now feel sure they can hurl him into outer darkness in the near future.

Who who wobble about in politics and who sell to every factional wind, will never be trusted within the councils of the G. O. P. But Hoover has a reputation during the war and must either be destroyed or reckoned with as a future presidential candidate. So, "Step into the ring," said the spider to the fly. And Hoover stepped in.

Since March 4 two incidents have occurred which indicate how thoroughly the former food administrator has been "framed." Early this month some southern textile men came to Washington to arrange for an export conference at which they hoped Secretary Hoover would be the principal orator. Among the guests were officials in the state and commerce departments, they were warmly welcomed and their plan approved. At length they called at the White House to procure President Harding's endorsement. After listening to the speakers and hearing Mr. Hoover's name mentioned, an important aide to the president said: "Do I understand that you are inviting the president to address your conference, or that you wish him to assign Secretary Hoover to act in his place?"

How the matter was finally arranged is not known, but the visitors left with a distinct impression that they had been caught in the under-tow of some deep political waters. It was the first warning to business leaders that the administration tonight was not intended to illuminate Mr. Hoover unduly.

Much more blunt and public is the rebuke now administered to Hoover in the matter of Russia. Why the secretary of commerce even ventured to discuss the foremost diplomatic question of the day is not understood here. Some hold that the reporters for newspapers deeply committed to the Wilson policy on Russia persuaded Hoover it would be a good and proper thing for him to do. Others believe his political enemies in disguise must have helped him prepare the press "handout" which they allowed before the public when the secretary of state, Mr. Hughes, came through with our new Russian policy.

Rules governing press interviews at the White House and state department make it impossible to describe how much further Mr. Hoover has been isolated by the president's and Secretary Hughes' mention of Russia to the correspondents since Monday. Some reporters who were most active in acclaiming Hoover's statement as the voice of the new administration have not even appeared at the state department press conference since then. They made note of President Harding's words and manner on Tuesday and seem to have spread speculation about Russia in a few days.

Washington is so deeply immersed in politics that interest in these episodes does not point to Russia so much as to the political fate of Herbert Hoover. The critics see him being given lots of rope and getting himself tangled in it. In a little while, they predict, he will be tied up tight and laid on the shelf.

Preserve White Civilization,
Blaine Urges Health Nurses

Yellow Nations Suffered Little Loss While Whites Were Losing Millions in War, Declares Governor in Welcoming Conference Here

Public health nurses of Wisconsin, convening for their second annual conference in the capitol this morning, were welcomed by Gov. John J. Blaine, who said that upon the shoulders of such workers as they rests the responsibility for preserving the white civilization from the blighting effects of the world's most ruinous war.

"Modern science and efforts in the field of public health, if properly applied, can save thousands of babies in Wisconsin, and improve in the aggregate the life of the state," said the governor, speaking of the work of the department of health.

The activities of that body may have the disfavor of some, he said, but the great mass of the people appear to be strong for this kind of work.

Gov. Blaine defined health as the greatest asset of an individual, as also of the state and the people as a mass. With great wealth but little health one's existence becomes an uncomfortable and uncertain one, he said.

"The one great, outstanding fact prevailing in the world today," said Gov. Blaine, "is the natural contest between the great white civilization, of which you are members, and the great yellow civilization. The white civilization has recently suffered the greatest disaster in the world's history, and ten million of its young men lie under the sod. The yellow civilization came out of the war practically without a loss. Five million more men, women and children of the white race lost their lives as a direct result of this war. In Germany, Austria, Poland, Russia, thousands of children are dying for want of nourishment. Millions are being lost to the civilization of which you are a part. Let us hope the time has come when the white civilization shall awake to this problem of preserving itself."

The governor quoted government figures indicating that last year the U. S. appropriated five billion, 686 million dollars, only one per cent was spent for the upbuilding of the human family. One-eighth of one per cent went for public health. For present armaments and past wars we are spending 92.8-10 per cent of all appropriations. Taxes today average $50 per person throughout the country. Only fifty cents of this goes for health and related purposes.

The lessons the war has taught us, the governor concluded, are that life is "quite useless without health and happiness."

The executive was introduced by Mrs. Mary P. Morgan, director of the bureau of child welfare and public health nursing, who opened the conference with references to the accomplishments and ambitions of the bureau in rural health development.

The address Wednesday night by Mrs. L. M. Fetherstone, of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial Fund, Chicago, on "Malnutrition," is open to the public, and a large attendance is invited. The talk will be illustrated. Mrs. Fetherstone is heralded as a speaker of magnetism, who makes a pleasing impression upon audiences.

Prof. A. T. Weaver, of the university, addressed the nurses this morning upon the art of public speaking. Miss Edith Foster, Milwaukee, scheduled to speak on public speaking, was unable to come. L. W. Hatcher, assistant state health officer, spoke upon the ways other divisions of the state health department may aid the public health nurses. The work of the state conference of social work was outlined by its executive secretary, Edward D. Lynde.

WAREHOUSE
IS MYSTERY

Whole District is Shaken
by Terrific Blast;
Two Reports
Are Heard

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO—At least six and perhaps twice that number of persons were killed and scores of others were hurt when an unexplained explosion blew to pieces a warehouse two miles southwest of the downtown district today.

Police theories of the cause ranged through bombing, faulty gas mains, starch and flour dust and fireworks. The building was filled with grocery stocks but the police also learned that a quantity of fireworks had been stored in the basement.

The concussion was so great that timbers and bricks were thrown hundreds of feet and windows in a department store several blocks away were shattered.

In the vicinity of the warehouse scarcely a pane of glass was left intact, porches were torn from houses and apartment building corners were ripped loose.

Witnesses said there were two reports in rapid succession. A great cloud of smoke shot up, bricks and shattered timbers rained about the street, adjacent store fronts crashed in and then what was left of the warehouse walls, crumbled into a heap.

One survivor told police about a dozen men were employed in the place but that there were some truck drivers in the warehouse when it blew up. Seven seriously injured were taken to the hospital.

Committee Gets Data
On Successor to Meek

Data on a new superintendent of public schools to succeed Charles S. Meek, who resigned recently, is being gathered by the special school board committee on superintendents, John Moran, secretary, announced Tuesday.

The data is being taken chiefly from the old records of men who were considered at the time of Mr. Meek's appointment. No publicity will be given on the probable candidates in order that they may be spared embarrassment. The committee has received no applications for the post, and as the result of its previous announcements, will probably not receive any.

"One good term deserves another" is the slogan of the friends of Ald. Joseph H. Brown who seeks re-election to the council from the tenth ward. Mr. Brown has served two years as alderman and four years as a member of the vocational school board. He is chairman of the city property committee and a member of the finance, judiciary and printing committees. He has won the confidence of the entire city administration through his fearless and fair stand on all questions. During his 16 years' residence in Madison he has taken a keen interest in city affairs, especially in matters pertaining to education. When the building committee was organized to handle the construction and equipment of the new vocational school he was made chairman on account of his thorough experience in building lines.

FIRE LOSSES
SHOW DECREASEFirst Quarter Shows Falling Off Compared With Same Period in 1920

Madison fire loss for 1921 will be considerably less than that of the previous years if the figures for the first quarter indicate anything. There have been about 66 fires this year in which there has been a loss, according to Chief Heyl's figures, of approximately $18,811.06. Last year the first quarter's loss was $26,381.29, $7,570.23 than this year.

The majority of the calls this year have been chiefly due to chimney and roof fires, and the losses have ranged from $6 to $1,742.94, the majority being under $200.

Losses of more than $200, according to the adjustments which have been returned to Chief Heyl, have been sustained by: W. H. Coyne, Elizabeth Breitenbach, W. D. Frost, Wolf, Kuby & Himsig, William F. McKinney, Charles H. Halperin, John S. Main, Leonard W. Gay, Beta Theta Pi fraternity, Stein Bros., Carrie S. Pierce, Park Hotel, C. C. Newby, A. J. Schwoegler, Frank Loskiel, C. C. Clark, Charles T. Rieder, Schubring & Gay, F. M. Vincent, Shattuck Drug Co., Kennedy creamery, W. E. Maxwell and John A. Bancroft.

The total loss for 1920 was $73,844.49, according to Chief Heyl's figures. The heaviest loss, he says, comes as a rule during the winter months, when there is more danger of fire.

BURROUGHS,
NATURALIST,
DROPS DEAD

Dean of American Nature
Writers Dies On Train Returning
From West

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK—John Burroughs, famous naturalist, died at 2 o'clock this morning on a New York Central train at Kingsville, O. Word of Mr. Burroughs' death was received here by New York Central officials.

He was returning east after spending the winter in Pasadena, Calif., where he was reported to have been slightly ill with afflictions incident to old age. He was in his 84th year.

John Burroughs was the venerable dean of nature-writers in the United States. Through a score of books he shared with countless readers his life-long intimacy with birds, bees, flowers and the whole out-of-doors. His highly developed powers of observation and the charm of his interpretations were the marvel of his critics.

His flowing white beard, his kindly mien, his whole habit of life, and his literary style were rather reminiscent of that famous New England school of essayists a generation or two before him. His early writings on "Expression" was at one time widely mistaken for the work of Emerson, a close reader of whom Burroughs had been from youth. His later works on nature suggested something of Thoreau, but as critics said, Burroughs was the more sociable writer.

Known by Madison Men.

"John Burroughs had much the same personality as his books," said L. J. Cole, professor of genetics at the university, in commenting on the death of the naturalist. Prof. Cole became acquainted with Mr. Burroughs on the Harriman Alaska expedition in 1899, when John Muir accompanied the naturalist.

"He was a keen observer," said Mr. Cole, "one who observed from the standpoint of living animals and birds. He was a man who saw the poetry of things. He knew nature intimately. He was not a scientist in the strictest sense of the term, but he understood the scientific point of view."

"Burroughs did a great work in nature study," said G. Wagner, associate professor of zoology at the university. "He wrote charmingly, and in that way he interested a great many people in nature study. He was really a poet, and at the same time an accurate observer."

PARDON BY BLAINE

Meyer Askotzky Committed to Asylum Until He Is Mentally Sound

A conditional pardon for Meyer Askotzky, Milwaukee, was granted by Gov. John J. Blaine late Monday afternoon. Askotzky was convicted July 1, 1919, in Milwaukee of having received stolen goods in the nature of automobile supplies and was sentenced for seven years at Wau-pun by Judge A. E. Backus. His sentence was commuted to four years Aug. 13, 1920, by Gov. E. L. Philipp. The pardon is conditional upon his immediate commitment to an asylum where he shall not be released until the director shall certify to the governor that he is again mentally and physically sound.

Because of the rush of legislation the governor has cancelled the April pardon hearing and will not again hear pardon applications until May 4. It is probable that the famous Deitz case will come up at that time.

Blaine Names Labor Leader to State Board of Education

Harley F. Nickerson, Milwaukee, one of the leading laboring men of the state, was today appointed as a member of the state board of education to take the place of William R. Graves, Prairie du Chien, resigned. The appointment is for the unexpired term, August, 1922. The nomination was sent to the senate Tuesday morning, but no action will be taken upon it for a week or ten days.

The appointment is an indication that Gov. Blaine intends to carry out his policy announced months ago of putting representative farmers and laboring men on the educational boards of the state. Up to the present the board of education has had a membership of two lawyers, one farmer, one manufacturer and one woman. The appointment of Mr. Nickerson replaces one of the lawyers with a laboring man.

Mr. Graves presented his resignation nearly two months ago. Mr. Nickerson was born at Whitewater, April 29, 1879, and moved to Milwaukee in 1892. He was educated in the public schools of this state. For the past 15 years he has been a machinist with Milwaukee industries. Since 1914 he has been a representative of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor. He has since 1915 been a representative of the International Association of Machinists with headquarters at Washington, D. C. With this organization he has served as chairman of the law committee. He was a candidate for lieutenant governor in the republican primaries in 1918, but was defeated. During the war he was a member of the Great Lakes adjustment board representing the metal trades. He has been active in the movement in having the vocational schools removed from private industries, where the products of the schools were benefiting the industries.

Mr. Nickerson was in Madison today and will take up his duties with the board as soon as his appointment is confirmed.

Real Estate Case
Now in Jury's Hands

Autoists Have 3 Days
To Get Their Licenses

Only three days remain for auto owners who have not yet secured their license to avoid prosecution. The records of the secretary of state show there are approximately 100,000 automobile owners who have neglected to get their 1921 license. Two weeks ago, Elmer S. Hall, secretary of state, said that a small army of inspectors would be sent out April 1 to round up and prosecute the delinquents. Warrants will be immediately issued and the offenders will have a state fine to pay beside the license fee.

RAIL EXPERT
HITS ROADS'
INEFFICIENCY

W. J. Lauck Tells Labor
Board Billion Lost
By Inadequate
Management

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO—The root of the railroad difficulty is not in national agreements but in the inadequacies of management, declared W. Jett Lauck, consulting economist of the railroad labor organizations, in beginning presentation of exhibits before the U. S. railroad labor board today.

"If railroad management was characterized by reasonable efficiency and had available for its use a proper amount of capital or credit, labor costs would have shown a radical decline under national agreements," he declared, "and savings in operating expenses of at least one billion dollars annually would be made. By the series of exhibits which I will present we shall establish these facts:

"The policy of establishing national agreements or uniform rates of pay and working conditions is in conformity with precedent in the transportation industry and in accordance with the best public policy."

"2—In other leading industries of this country collective bargaining on a national scale and national agreements as to working conditions have been found to be the best means of stabilizing conditions, promoting industrial peace and accelerating production."

"3—That in Great Britain these facts have become so clearly recognized by both employees and employers that national agreements are encouraged by the federated industries and the federation of trades unions as a whole."

"4—That the former railroad administration in entering into national agreements therefore merely recognized a tendency which had almost reached complete development prior to the war and which was sanctioned by enlightened opinion."

"5—That the representatives of the railroads have given their sanction to national rates of pay and working conditions of engine and train crews."

"6—We shall further show that the arguments of the railroads are the same which have been urged in all past years to prevent establishment of human standards in industry, and shall that the railroads are now consciously taking advantage of a temporary industrial depression to reduce human standards which are sanctioned by the thought and practice of the leading industrial nations of the world."

University Student
Admits He Is Forger

Henry M. Franklin of Chicago, university student, pleaded guilty Tuesday morning in superior court to the charge of forgery. He is alleged to have forged the name of F. H. Mann to a number of checks. One of these he is said to have cashed at "Dad" Morgan's, another at the Kamera Kraft shop. Two other checks, for $50. each, Franklin had with him. Police officials declare that he had attempted to cash one of these, but had failed. Different addresses were written on the checks beneath the forged signatures. Franklin was remanded to the custody of the sheriff pending disposition of the case. His parents have arrived in Madison from Chicago.

BLAINE KILLS BILL IN DRIVE FOR ECONOMY

Sends Back $30,000 Conservation Request; Urges Care in Tapping General Fund

By FRED L. HOLMES

Gov. Blaine reiterated his determination to enforce economy in the affairs of the state Tuesday when he sent back to the Assembly without his approval a bill appropriating $30,000 to the State Conservation commission. The governor called the attention of the legislature to the necessity of reducing appropriations instead of passing measures containing increases of from 12 to 38 per cent. The conservation bill carried an appropriation for operating the warden's division covering a period ending June 30, 1921 and in the nature of a deficiency appropriation, "though I do not consider it as such."

Gov. Blaine calls attention to a number of sections of the statute and then declares that it is the plain policy of the law that the conservation department should be self supporting. "That policy has, of course, not been fully carried out," declared the governor.

"I do not pretend to determine, now, how far we would go with respect to that question," continues the governor, "but the situation is, as I view it, that we should conserve as much of the funds in the 'conservation fund' as may be necessary in the next two years to put the property under control of the conservation commission in good repair, rather than to appropriate money from the general fund for such purpose. I do not pretend to go into the details in discussing the administration of the conservation department or the use that has been made of the 'conservation fund.' That is an administrative function for the commission, limited by its appropriation, and in view of the legislative policy as set forth in section 20.205, and in the interests of economy, Bill No. 4 A should be disapproved, else we will find ourselves in a position of taking from the general fund money for the expense of administration, construction and repairs that should come from the 'conservation fund.'"

Gov. Blaine then calls attention to his recent message to the legislature in which he declared in favor of economy. Incidentally he replied without mentioning the names, to Gov. Philipp's recent comments on the governor's financial message.

"I now find appropriation measures coming to me carrying increases ranging from 12 to 38 per cent," says Gov. Blaine. "If this percentage in increase is to obtain with respect to all appropriations, we are going to find ourselves before the last appropriation measure is passed, from three million to nine million dollars in excess of our estimated receipts."

"I do not think that it is amiss to call attention to what is stated in connection with the estimated receipts for the next biennium in my financial communication."

"The schedules I submitted were taken from the budget report dated Dec. 2, 1920, and signed by the Board of Public Affairs. A-g estimate beyond those figures is in part a matter of guess work, which may not prove true. I trust that the general receipts will exceed the estimate made on Dec. 24, 1920, but on the other hand, we cannot fail to appreciate the fact that there are deficiencies and certain increases looked for, though apparently necessary, beyond the estimate of the budget report dated Dec. 24, 1920."

Beyond what I have said herein, I do not feel it necessary to go, as my financial communication set forth quite definite, specific rules which I believe to be reasonable, and which the Executive feels impelled to follow, so far as it is possible, without doing injury to essential public service."

Mankind is a Giant Just Awakening, Says Haydon

Youth Should Accept Challenge of Life for a World in Which Full Development is the Goal, Urges Pastor in Easter Sermon

A plea to youth to accept the challenge of life for a world in which the full development of human life is the goal was made Sunday by Dr. A. E. Haydon at the Unitarian church in his Easter address. Dr. Haydon gave a new insight into the meaning and significance of Easter.

"Do you realize that you belong to a great surging tide of living creative energy?" he asked. "This creative power is transforming, hammering, reshaping the outer world to its service. We so often think of ourselves as very important individuals, not regarding the great world of energy that lies about us. When I want to do is to interpret for you the thrill that you get in the spring time in terms of the battling groping life that has been fighting its way out into expression. It is all a wonderful thrill, this reaction to spring time."

The speaker showed the attitude of primitive man and how he developed his ceremonial having to do with life and death, winter and spring time, cold and warmth, and how we find traces of these ceremonies in all religions. In fact, we must go back to the old faiths to really understand the message of Easter. He noted as instances the old Hebrew, Egyptian, Greek and early European concepts, then showed how Christianity joined with them all and was interpreted in terms of these faiths.

"Now men have always thrilled with their great faith that their life is not to be mastered. People have felt that by carrying out their ceremonial they are helping Nature in her unequal struggle. In most of the God and human join. God is imprinted in a real life; a god who lives and dies, but death can not hold him. Here is the guarantee that the believer will have eternal life. Today the old forms are fading away before the realities of life. Man sees that he has come out of the earth, sees how hopeless is the old interpretation, yet knows how valuable it is to him, as a challenge against death.

"But in this era humanity is breaking loose from its old ideas. We do not need to keep the old dead gripping hand of worn out ceremonies upon us. Right beside us there are hearts just hungering to hear the kind word that we might speak. It is so easy for us to get our lives all tied up with custom. This world is shot through with opportunities for thrill and we have our lives so bound to the ordinary that we do not see them."

"After all humanity is life. The people embody the meaning of life in the world. Mankind is a giant just beginning to awake gropingly feeling for the light. The great drive for life is embodied in you. All the heritage of the past is in you. You carry it and as the treasure bearer of all the forces of the past you are facing the future. You are now no longer afraid of the forces of nature. But there is the old fear in a new form the fear that has always hovered about life, the fear of inhumanity, the hearts made heavy by oppression. The challenge of life is to you who may feel the thrill of carrying in your hearts the burden of human needs."

"You sigh and say, 'It is so slow in coming—this new kingdom.' It does seem strange that for 1900 years Christianity has been in the world and the world is just beginning to use the word brotherhood. It may be that this new day will come more swiftly than you dare to dream."

Waukesha Gas Company is Denied Rate Raise

The railroad commission Tuesday denied the application of the Waukesha Gas & Electric Co. for an increase in gas rates and took the company to task for the character of service which it rendered. "This record seems to us to show clearly that the service conditions at Waukesha have been very far from satisfactory," says the commission. The commission granted an increase of from 90 cents to $1.20 in gas rates to the Wauwatosa Gas Co. It granted an increase of from 90 cents to $1.00 for gas rates to the West Allis Gas Co. on the first 7,000 cubic feet used. It dismissed the application of the Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power Co. for revision of rates at Sparta.

PRICES DOWN; JOBS SCARCE

Federal Reserve Bank Declares Unemployment Growing

(By the Associated Press)
MINNEAPOLIS—Credit conditions in the northwest improved considerably during February and in the first half of March, according to the monthly statement of the ninth federal reserve bank.

Prices, wholesale and retail, declined during February. There was also a reported reduction in the volume of business, while unemployment increased.

Wholesale cash prices on all grains, all meats except hogs and for numerous kinds of produce declined. Average retail prices declined, with greatest recessions in clothing. Food prices increased in some cities. Building materials prices remained firm except for lumber which showed a decline. Farm values have receded as compared with a year ago.

The reduction in business volume and prices measured by payments through banks in February was 10 per cent below January.

Employment agencies placed 17 per cent fewer persons in February than in the previous month and demand for laborers declined 75 per cent for men and 60 per cent for women as compared with 1920. Local relief agencies reported more unemployment than at any time since February, 1915.

Why Pay 6 Prices for Foreign Bonds When You Can Buy Safe 7% Income Here At Home?

We clip the following item from the Milwaukee Journal:

German Bonds Sold at Inflated Prices

A huge fraud is being perpetrated on the people of Wisconsin by which German city bonds are being sold at excessive prices, usually being exchanged for Liberty bonds.

I have on my desk a bundle of German city bonds purchased by a farmer at 10 cents a mark, or about 10 marks for $100. Since marks are worth only a little over 14 cents, he paid six times as much for the bonds as he ought to.

We have information that many of subscribers are waiting to see what the state will do to these German bonds, which are being sold at inflated prices. Some of the subscribers in the state have been advised to sell their bonds at a profit.

A warning should be sent to each portion of the state to look out for these subscribers, as it is not likely to work in one day and then jump to some 100 miles away to avoid them.

Foreign bonds may or may not prove to be a "good investment," bought now at their true value.

Wisconsin Gas & Electric Co. 7 participating preferred stock, at $100 a share, is a GOOD INVESTMENT. Each share represents ownership of more than $100 of income-producing property in a safe, solid, permanent public service business. The $7 a year of cash dividends—payable $1.75 every 90 days—are regular and dependable. And when normal times return each share can fairly be expected to earn an extra $1 to $2 for cash dividends in good years.

Issuance and sale of the stock approved by the state to pay off a bond issue and finance growth for public service.

Music Memory Selection

Twelfth of 28 Daily Selections For Wednesday, March 30 MINUET ANTIQUE, by BOCCHERINI (1732-1809)

While Boccherini was by no means "a singer of but one song" he wrote almost 500 instrumental works and many vocal selections—he is generally known today only by this delightful piquant and capricious minuet. This one composition has kept his name alive for 100 years and shows no sign of weakening. Luigi Boccherini was born at Lucca, central Italy, about ten years after Haydn was born in Hungary and Washington was born in America. He studied music thoroughly, became famous as a composer and cellist and toured Italy, France, Spain and Germany. His compositions resemble those of Haydn in their simplicity, grace, freshness and naturalness. He wrote principally for strings, including not only his own instrument, the cello, but also the violin and viola. Some of his violin duets are still used as teaching pieces.

This minuet is more like the one in G by Beethoven, which was in last year's contest, than it is like the one by Mozart which we recently had. Boccherini, it is true, still retains the triple measure and has also the familiar three part form of first section, contrasting section or trio, and repetition of the first section. As in the Beethoven minuet there are two themes in each section. But the Boccherini and Beethoven minuet are no longer music for actual dancing of the minuet! Boccherini doubtless suggested this dainty, tricky, difficult number with its rapid turns, hurrying runs, tantalizing syncopated rhythms and puzzling two-tone or double-stop passages as a virtuoso or show piece when he gave his cello recitals. See how different this music is from the Mozart number in which, with characteristic playfulness, the first tone is played six times before a different tone appears. Listen not for dancing—at least not for the slow and stately movements of the minuet. Only an artist can play this music properly on a cello; we therefore hear it usually on the violin. But it is delightful on any instrument.

The twelfth selection in last year's contest was Liszt's "No. 3 by Liszt."

Holbrook of Chicago who is, in her own words a New England, old maid school marm of 30 year's standing, spoke last night on the various stages of mental development through which a child passes. FOR FIRST TIME IN TEN YEARS ENJOYS HEALTH

Milwaukee Man Says Tanlac Put Him in Shape to Work Hard Every Day—Had Given Up Hope.

In an interview at the Central Drug Store in Milwaukee recently, Fred Kaemlein, a well-known carpenter living on R. P. D. No. 2, Station D, (Box 841) made the remarkable statement that Tanlac had built him up to where he feels well now for the first time in ten years. "I had such a stubborn case of stomach trouble," he said during the course of conversation, "that I did not think I could ever get over it." Mr. Kaemlein has lived in Milwaukee all his life and numbers his friends by his acquaintances. "I simply couldn't eat a meal in peace," he went on, "and gas formed so bad I thought sometimes it was going to cut my breath off altogether. Even at night my stomach bothered me and sleep was next to impossible. My knees would swell up and get stiff and achy and my arms and legs felt so heavy it was all I could do to drag myself around. Why, I hardly had the strength to drive a nail and I thought at times I would give clean out. My back was weak and achy and it was all I could do to climb a ladder.

Mr. Kaemlein then told of his efforts to regain his health, but said his case was of such long standing that temporary relief was all he could get. "Some time ago," he continued, "I made up my mind to try Tanlac but I admit I had little faith in it. But I soon changed my mind, for I commenced to pick right up. My appetite came back and my troubles began to lose their grip on me and I felt better all round. And now Tanlac has completely restored my health and I feel as fine as I ever did in my life. I am working every day and Tanlac just couldn't have done any more for me than it did for my health is perfect."—Adv.

Mrs. McCumber Avoided a Serious Operation by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Georgetown, Ill.—"After my first baby was born I suffered so with my left side that I could not walk across the floor unless I was all humped over, holding myself side. Now I can do all my own work and it has saved me from operation. I cannot give my medicine too highly and I tell all of my friends and neighbors what the Compound did for me."—Mrs. MARGARET McCUMBER, 27 S. Frazier St., Georgetown, Illinois.

A baking secret that will interest every cook

ONE of the most difficult things in baking is to get a cake that has a real delicate flavor, and yet sufficiently pronounced to satisfy. This problem has now been solved.

Karo gives just the delicate flavor to a cake that appeals to refined women everywhere. Many chefs in leading hotels use Karo exclusively for sweetening cakes, pies and French pastries.

Yet Karo is much more than a delicious food dainty. It is one of the greatest of all energy-producing foods, made in a way that brings out every bit of its goodness and wholesomeness.

Do you know what Dextrose is?

Millions of Karo users everywhere will be interested to know that Karo is practically a predigested food. For Karo is largely what bread and cake and potatoes and all starch and sugar have to become before they can be absorbed and utilized as energy-producing foods.

This statement, from the highest medical and food authorities, must convince you more than ever that Karo is one of the best and most wholesome foods you could possibly give the family.

It helps make strong, sturdy boys and girls, with energy and endurance for study and play.

BILLY WHISKERS

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

When Billy and Violet reached the pond they learned that all the ducks that had been so carefully shut up to fatten for the fair were out swimming in the middle and would not come to shore to be driven back to their pens.

"What shall we do?" said one of the men as Violet came up. "We have thrown sticks at them and done everything that we could, even to bringing feed and hiding ourselves so that we might catch them when they came for it, but they are too sharp for us. They will not come out, but persist in staying in the middle of the pond, swimming round and round as much as to say, 'Catch us if you can, but you can't.' It is getting late and we must get them out before dark. What shall we do?"

"I'll send Shep after them," said Violet. "He will drive them out and not hurt them either. Here, Shep! Go and bring them out!"

Shep understood in a minute what was wanted of him and he jumped into the water and began swimming toward the ducks. This frightened them so that they commenced to "quack! quack!" until one could have heard them a mile away.

At first they refused to swim to shore, but only huddled closer together in the center of the pond, but when Shep swam up to them, barking and snapping right and left, they flapped their wings, quacked, in a last faint protest, and then swam toward the shore. In some way or other Shep knew which was the leader, so he singled him out to drive to the bank first and in a short time all the clumsy-footed, fat waddlers were on their way back to the barnyard and to their coop, with Shep walking behind like a sentinel, keeping an eye on them so that no straggler could escape.

"I am sure I don't see why none of us thought of sending Shep or wading in ourselves for them," said one of the men.

"Shep, you know more than a great many people and you prove it almost every day," said Violet. Many prayers were said that night, by both old and young, asking for a bright, sunny day, so that they might attend the fair to buy candy and popcorn, and see the sights generally; the young girls with bouquets because they wanted to ride around with them and show off their finery; the girl without bouquets, with the hope that they might catch one; the fathers that they might show off their fine stock and compare it with their neighbors'; while the mothers' object was to gratify their pride by displaying preserves, light cake or jelly, clear as limpid water, or many-pieced quilts and daintily-made tidies. And so, you see, all had important reasons of their own for wishing and praying that it would be a nice, clear day, for what could be more dismal than a rainy day fair with only men in attendance, under dripping umbrellas and walking in mud a foot deep?

(Tomorrow is the opening day of the fair.)

Silver Diggers in Nevada
Want to See Champs;
Bid $800,000

NEW YORK.—Two new offers of sites for the Dempsey-Carpenter heavyweight championship were made to Promoter Tex Rickard on Monday. One came from a Nevada silver mining camp and guaranteed the pugilistic impresario $800,000 if he would stage the contest there July 4.

The other was presented by a London syndicate and included a $500,000 offer for the bout if it could be held in the Olympia during Derby week.

Rickard took the offers under consideration and said that a final decision might be expected this week.

Harvard Pigskin Men Report; Many Backfield Tryouts; Poor Forwards

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Head coach Robert Fisher surveyed the prospects for the Harvard football team of next fall when spring practice for the gridiron squad began yesterday. He found a likely backfield but a line full of holes. Of the fifty men who reported for the three weeks' trial, most were candidates for line positions, and Fisher said he would devote much of his time to them.

Commander Howard, athletic officer, has notified the management of the carnival that the middies would enter the distance medley relay, the two mile college relay, discus and javelin throws, and the pentathlon, or all around championship event.

FIRELIGHT PROGRAM HAS NEW FEATURE

A different element was introduced into Saturday night's firelight program with the interpretative dances done by members of Miss H. Doubler's class. Carol Good-year '23, and Lillian Bressler '23 proved very entertaining in their rendering of nursery rhyme dances, "The Big Brown Bear," and "The Toad's Mistake."

Other features of the program were readings by members of Red Domino. Mary Graham Lindsay '23 read a short story, "Ten P. M." by Mary Aldess. Miriam Dean '22 gave two dialect poems from the Norse lyrics of William E. Kirk, "Abou Swan Anson," and "George Washington."

Long train trips and cold weather have hampered the training program of the Chicago White Sox, the past two days, but with the arrival of Amos Strunk, veteran outfielder, the roster is complete. Capt. Eddie Collins gave the squad a brief workout yesterday at Wichita Falls, Tex., and they started last night for Brownswood to play an exhibition game today.

Frazee Sues Stuffy McInnis; Player Silent

BOSTON, Mass.—At last the break between Harry W. Frazee, president of the Red Sox, and "Stuffy" McInnis has reached the critical stage. McInnis will not play with the Red Sox until Frazee meets his financial terms, he says.

DETROIT SYMPHONY GIVES CONCERT IN ARMORY TONIGHT

"I am looking forward to the Detroit concert largely on account of its conductor, Ossip Gabrilowitch. Before he took charge of the Detroit orchestra he was a pianist, and although all the press reports say he is a wonderful conductor, I wish to judge for myself. I want to see, and personally form an opinion of what kind of a conductor he will be," declared Dr. Charles H. Mills, director of the Music school, in speaking of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, which is to play in the university gymnasium at 8:15 tonight. The Detroit Symphony Orchestra is one of the most recently organized in the country, but within a short time it has won a reputation for itself which bids fair to rank it with older organizations of the country. The orchestra appears in Madison under the auspices of the Madison Orchestral association.

DES MOINES, Ia.—The Des Moines club of the Western league plans to inaugurate a "Kids' Day" with the opening of the season April 13.

Children up to 12 years of age will be admitted free one day each week, according to present plans. It is believed here that the innovation will prove as popular all around the circuit with both baseball men and fans as it is sure to be with the youthful enthusiasts.

One day a week the sand lots will be absolutely vacant while young America flocks to the stands. Fans will be privileged to sit next to rosy checked Babe Ruths and presidents of the future and to hear them yell for the home team.

BASEBALL NINE OPENS SEASON ON APRIL SIXTH

Varsity Line-up Uncertain
as First Game Approaches

The 1921 baseball season will be officially opened when Northwestern college comes here to play on April 6. The Badger nine has been greatly handicapped this spring because of the unsettled weather which made outdoor practice impossible.

It had been planned to shift the opening game of the preliminary schedule ahead to Saturday, April 2, and Coach Guy S. Lowman would have been given an earlier opportunity to see his men in action. Recent weather changes, however, have made this proposed change in the schedule impractical and the first game will not be played until Wednesday, April 6.

The lineup for the opening game has not as yet been announced. Several of the old mainstays are back this year and will add their previous experience to this year's team. Allan Davey seems to be the logical choice for behind the bat, and Jack Williams is working out well for the first base position.

Captain Alvah Elliott, Edgar Farrington, Robert Hardell, Carson Lyman, and George Rudiger are the men who are being tried out of the people air are being pres'ntions. Elliott and Farrington can be used to advantage anywhere in the infield, and Hardell has been showing up well lately, both in infield positions and in the outfield.

Carl Ceaser, and William Snow, two other members of last year's team, and W. Y. Christensen have also been working out well for outfield positions. Roland Williams and Gus Tebell are new on the squad and have not been out long enough to insure places on the team. However, they are both men of experience and ability and will probably be included in the lineup for the first game.

AFTER THE MOVIES

MILK

JUST a "bite of milk," after the movie show or evening outing, makes children and grown-ups too, rest soundly, healthfully. Mothers will do well to allay that bedtime hunger with milk. Wonderfully wholesome and easily digestible.

The Milk Way Is the Health Way

Dr. E. V. McCollum, foremost American authority on child food problems says:

"Every household in which there are children should be a household in which there is milk in abundance."

Science has proved that milk alone contains all the essentials necessary for life, health and growth.

Without milk, Dr. McCollum tells us, children cannot attain the full mental and physical growth so necessary to their future success.

There is no substitute for milk but in itself milk is a substitute for all foods. Science has demonstrated that milk is our protective food; that it makes good the deficiencies of whatever else we choose to eat.

Feed your family milk—at least a quart of milk per day per child.

LAST CHANCE TO REGISTER

Madison Electors to Vote Four Ballots at April 5 Election

Tuesday is the last chance to register for the election, April 5. All those whose names do not appear on the polling lists and desire to participate in the election should not fail to go to the booths before 8 Tuesday night. Those not registered must have their votes sworn in at the election.

Madison voters will be handed four ballots when they enter the booths to vote April 5. They will vote for one alderman and one supervisor from each ward, two members to the board of education, a justice of the supreme court and state superintendent of schools. In the precincts outside of the county the voters also will ballot for a superintendent of schools.

Outside of the ward contests in Madison the principal interest is in the fight between C. P. Cary and John Callahan for state superintendent of schools. Mrs. Cicely A. Weaver and Rev. Henry Harris are candidates to succeed themselves on the Madison school board and have no opposition. Judge A. J. Vinje is also unopposed for re-election to the supreme court bench.

In the second district of the county there are two candidates for school superintendent, William Nelson Macklin, formerly principal of the Franklin school, South Madison, and Thomas S. Thompson of Mt. Vernon, present incumbent. Supt. Vanus Ames of Stoughton has no position.

Blaine Signs Philipp $1500 Portrait Bill

Gov. Blaine signed Monday the $1500 appropriation bill for the purchase of a picture of former Gov. E. L. Philipp. The purchase will not be made until Philipp gives his approval of a picture for the executive office.
The emergency appropriation bill of $600,000 for the institutions under the Board of Control was also signed by the Governor. He set forth his reason for signing in an accompanying statement.
"The deficiency incurred by the State Board of Control appears to have been unavoidable. I might point out some errors, due no doubt to misjudgment, and there are some items which might have been avoided or saved, though the same in aggregate would be very small.
"Under the circumstances, as both houses have passed the emergency appropriation without a dissenting vote, I do not feel like jeopardizing the penal, charitable, and reformatory institutions because of some slight objections that I might point out.

J. H. MOSS HOLDS IDEALS OF KIWANIS COMMUNITY ASSET

John H. Moss of Milwaukee, district governor of the Wisconsin Michigan district of Kiwanis Clubs International, pointed out the ideals of Kiwanis as an asset to the community in a talk Monday night before 200 Kiwanians and ladies at the Y. W. C. A. Miss Jena Sherrill described the work the Y. W. C. A. is doing here. Judge Walter C. Owen presided over the dinner served in the Y. W. C. A. cafeteria, which was given over to the Kiwanis ladies, night. Mrs. Ray Hugel won the silent boost, a mahogany sewing stand contributed by Clayton Haswell. Peter W. Dykema led the assembly singing, and singing of Y. W. C. A. classes entertained with singing and dancing. Kiwanian W. L. Miller sang "Boy o' Mine" with an organ accompaniment.
An acrimonious debate was provoked by W. L. Miller's objection that he had not received a receipt from Charles Littleton, collector of fines, for the dime he had paid in. Emerson Eida objected to the implied slur on the integrity of the fine collector, but Judge Owen upheld Miller. J. H. Forbes and M. H. Sater had to give testimony before the receipt was awarded.

RENT PROBE IS DEAD FOR GOOD

Overland Building Investigation Move Dies in Senate

Investigation of the rental of the Overland building in Madison was settled when the senate killed the Higgins resolution for the appointment of a legislative investigation committee.

The senate killed the Peterson bill Tuesday morning which would provide for the election of committees for county party committees in Milwaukee. Under the terms of the bill the committees would be nominated at the September primaries to serve on the county committees.

Sen. Huber's dower bill was given passage. This bill gives the widow one third of the estate outright instead of its use for her life time. The senate also passed the Weittenhiller bill allowing counties to offer a bounty of five cents for rats and mice.

Advance Mark Bill
The Mark bill providing the establishment of comfort stations in parks and camp sites was advanced to third reading. The senate ordered to engrossment the Nye bill providing that where employers shall be in doubt as to the age of prospective employees the county court shall determine the age.

Sen. Conant's women jury bill was advanced to engrossment without discussion. It provides for the placing of women on juries, exemptions in disagreeable cases, and separation of mixed juries in separate jury rooms when not considering the verdict.

Gov. Blaine's veto of the Moran bill for an open season for other and beaver was sustained without a dissenting vote. The senate laid over to Thursday the E. H. Johnson bill for free textbooks for public schools. The bill has passed the assembly but has been reported for non-concurrence by the senate committee on education.

The senate adjourned to 10 Wednesday morning.

Favor Appointment Bill
In spite of the opposition of the civil service commission, which opposed the passage of the Matheson bill, the house by a unanimous vote sent the measure to engrossment giving the secretary of state power to appoint the head of the auditing department from the exempt list.

"I am in favor of civil service," said Assemblyman A. E. Matheson. "The secretary of state must appoint a person at the head of an auditing department that handles from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 annually. Secty. Hall that this should be a personal appointment, because of the large sums of money handled and I agree with them."

The assembly advanced the Stokes resolution for the appointment of a legislative committee to investigate the feasibility of the state purchasing the Indian ceremonial grounds at Aztalan, near Lake Mills.

At Tuesday night's session of the assembly the marketing question will be considered.

LIFE EPOCHS ARE TRACED IN TALK BY THEOSOPHIST

First Period in Body Building, Says Isabel B. Holbrook

At the public library last night Miss Isabel B. Holbrook, national lecturer of the Theosophical society, spoke on "Educational Reconstruction in the Light of Theosophy."

The lecturer said that up to the second teething, at the age of 7, the human body has a mission to perform for itself which is different from that of all other life-epochs; that the physical organs must form themselves into certain shapes during the time and structural proportions take definite directions and tendencies; and that one cannot make amends in all the succeeding years for that which is neglected during this time.

The second period, from 7 to 14 years of age, was called the Age of Ideals, and it was here that progressive education was at present focusing much attention. It was the time for the training of the memory; it was the nascent period for acquiring language, for training in habits and setting permanent inclinations of temperament; and above all for the opening outward of the religious and ideal nature of the child.

Vocational courses and the training of the creative forces of hand, heart and head should mark the work of the period of adolescence.

His father died eight years ago. He was born blind and has never been able to see, and of course is unable to earn his living, now that he has an income of about one hundred and twenty-eight dollars per year, from a fund left him by his father, and that he is getting one hundred dollars from the county fund for the blind, but he finds the amount he receives is not sufficient to clothe and maintain him, therefore he prays that he may be allowed an additional sum of fifty dollars per year from said pension fund, so that he will be then self-supporting and not be a burden upon his aged mother, and he will be forever grateful to your honorable body.

Mr. Rasmussen presented the following petition:

The undersigned, being the supervisors of the towns of Oregon and Rutland, of Dane county, Wisconsin, hereby consent to the construction by the Interurban Lighting Company, its successors or assigns, of a line of electric wires for the purpose of transmitting light or power along and within the Rutland-Oregon highway, from the north line of the town of Rutland across said town to the south town line, and thence from a point in section 30 to the west town line of the town of Rutland and thence from the east town line of the town of Oregon, sections 36, 35, and 26, extending along what is known as the Brooklyn-Oregon and Brooklyn-Bellefield road, in the town of Oregon, Dane county, Wisconsin. line is constructed along a state highway the county highway commissioner shall be notified at the time the construction force is about to begin its operations. Mr. Asleson presented the following petition:

The town board, town of Dunkirk, Dane county, respectfully shows as follows: That by the annexed petition of one, Nils Fossdal, a resident of and taxpayer in town of Dunkirk, he, by mistake in his income tax return, was assessed as state income tax the sum of $61.20, which was in excess of the correct amount, by the amount of $22.70, this being for the year 1917 income, upon proper application being made, according to law, and with the approval of the county income tax assessor, the town board of Dunkirk has made the refund to the applicant, Nils Fossdal, of the amount of tax unlawfully secured by the town, namely 100 per cent, and your town board now petitions the county for the return by the county to the town of 30 per cent of the amount of tax in question, namely the return to the town of $6.81, this being the amount held by the county of the whole tax. Letters from the income tax assessor and other interested persons are enclosed herewith.

In accordance with the provisions of section 1164 of the statutes, providing for the recovery of the amount of taxes assessed and collected in error, I hereby petition your honorable body for the refund to me of an amount of taxes in the sum of $22.70, paid to the treasurer of Dunkirk town by your petitioner on or about the 18th day of January 1919, this being the amount of tax paid over and above the amount lawfully due to the said treasurer from the petitioner.

The facts upon which this claim is based are as follows: In submitting my report of 1917 income I made errors in adding the totals of the income column and the column for exemptions and deductions which made it appear that my total gross receipts were $9,456 and total deductions and exemptions were $5,146, leaving a taxable income of $4,310, on which a tax of $61.20 was assessed and paid by me, whereas a reading of the items in my report shows that the correct amount of total receipts was $9,426 and the correct amount of exemptions and deductions was $6,346.50, leaving a taxable income of $3,079.50, on which the tax would be $38.50. Hence the amount assessed and collected, $61.20, was in excess of the amount due ($38.50), by the sum of $22.70.

Recommendation: I have examined the above claim for repayment on account of error in the income tax assessed against Mr. Nils Fossdal on income received in 1917, and the records and facts in my possession indicate that the claim is correct and that Mr. Fossdal is entitled to the refund asked for.

Respectfully submitted,

HARRY JEROME,
Assessor of Incomes.

Whereas, it is a generally known fact that wolves have been increasing rapidly, especially in the county of Dane and other parts of the state, and that these wolves have been harassing, worrying and killing domestic animals of all kinds to the detriment, damage and injury of the farmers of this county and will continue so to do, and

Whereas, the conservation commission is fully aware of these facts and have received complaint as to this matter from numerous and various parts of the state, and

Whereas, the conservation commission is heartily in favor of a plan providing a liberal bounty on wolves as the best and most expedient means of eradicating them. Therefore be it

Resolved, that the bounty for the killing of wolves in this county to be paid by this county be changed from the sum of ten dollars per head to the sum of twenty-five dollars per head.

Laid over to the next meeting of the board.

ALLEY GIRLS

You Can Dance With 'Em for a Nickel at the Charity Ball

EASTER EGGS

Co-eds Blossom Forth in a "Go-to-Church" Sunday Parade

A corner for the elite—with admission 5 cents.

Does it sound impossible? In you think so, come to MacDougall's Alley at the Charity Ball mixer next Saturday night and see for yourself. A corner of the gym will be roped off where only twelve couples will be allowed to dance at a time and where the slickness of the floor will call for rubber heels to insure safety.

The ladies of the alley? That is the best part of all, for they will be waiting inside the arena—these dancing dozen dainty damsels—to challenge the existence of any stray grouch might have slipped in. The members of the dancing brigade will not be the same all the time, but there will always be twelve of them. And they will dance! Oh, man, yes! They will all be in costume, but not as theatrical partners, may be, or not as their choosers. A corps of policemen in the persons of the floor committee will keep order in the waiting lines. No, gentlemen, it's not every mixer that has a MacDougall's Alley.

When the co-eds blossomed forth on Easter morning State street rivalled Fifth avenue. This was one "morning after" when no one stayed in bed.

Spring bonnets and corsages seemed to vie with each other in brightness. There was just enough March wind to make many girls top their Easter bunnies with fur coats. But some were true devotees of fashion, and spring suits and coats went up the street despite the cold. Scarcely a man wore an overcoat. Who can say that vanity is women's vice alone? Many of the Fresh brethren gained attention by making use of the old device, —a bit of color.

The amount of grey almost made one think that the girls were going back to Quaker days, but the length of the skirts suggested the days of Eve. Many were the ostrich plumes, furbelons, and oh—there were bows and beaus. Who ver saw more devoted couples than were in this Easter parade?

PLANS FOR EXPO ARE PROGRESSING

Department of English Will Put on Shakespearean Pantomime

A pantomime of Romeo and Juliet played on an Elizabethan stage reproduced as nearly as possible on a small scale is the exhibit planned by the English department for the Exposition. The chief purpose of the exhibit is to illustrate the various parts of the Elizabethan stage, the model being 20 feet wide and 12 feet deep.

Dorothy Shaner '23 and Esther Guerin '23 with the cooperation of Professors W. G. Bleyer and O. J. Campbell will select the parts from Romeo and Juliet to be presented. The cast will be chosen from members of the three dramatic societies Red Domino, Twelfth Night, and Edwina Booth, Christian Afford will have charge of the building of the stage.

A diamond saw run by motor will cut through blocks and polish them so thin that they will be transparent to the extent of the exhibit to be put on by the geology and geography departments of the College of Letters and Science the exposition. Through a projection microscope spectators will be able to see the color and texture of the rock. This particular section of the exhibit will be in charge of J. B. Pasch.

The practical relation of the study to mining will be shown with colored models of mines.

Blow pipe analysis work under the direction of H. J. Weeks will be carried on together with exhibits of structural geology showing the way rocks under pressure will flow and how the earth's crust will fold.

Slides showing the prehistoric animals of preglacial times that existed around Madison together with a lecture by R. C. Emmons of British Columbia is another feature of the exhibit.

Trewartha is in charge of the geographical exhibit which will consist of maps showing various physical conditions such as the distribution of commodities is relating to physiography, this may have been made by professors of this department.

A map showing by means of colored electric lights the present and pre-war boundaries of countries of Europe it is expected by the chairman of the committee in charge of these exhibits, Everett C. Edwards to be of special interest.

Splendid Concert Given by Madison Maennerchor

Madison's oldest singing society, the Maennerchor, covered itself with glory at its 60th anniversary concert in Turner hall Monday night. Under the able direction of Alexis H. Baas the Maennerchor sang a number of songs which "brought down the house." Each song was greeted with greater applause than the preceding one and after the popular organization had rendered the final number on the program, Musikalische Schmeppereien, the audience kept applauding until the singers returned to the stage for an encore. Mrs. Laurette Parsons, contralto, and Miss Helen Coles, violinist, also contributed greatly to the success of the program. Mrs. Parsons rendered several pleasing songs and especially was she at her best in an encore, which song, according to an explanation by Mr. Baas who accompanied her, had been written originally for the lowest bass. Miss Coles proved that she was a master of the violin and the enthusiastic applause proved that she, just like Mrs. Parsons, was a favorite with the audience. Mrs. S. C. Baas and Miss Lucille Olson were the accompanists. Mr. Baas certainly deserves much credit for the success of the concert and it was regrettable that the hall was not filled to its capacity.

"AG" EXHIBIT WILL PLAY HUGE PART IN VARSITY EXPO

The development, the present importance, and future possibilities of agriculture, Wisconsin's most important industry, will be given in a bird's eye view at the Agricultural college exhibits for the University Exposition. The exhibit will reflect many of the outstanding recent developments in agriculture.

"Time was when production and more production was the dominating note in Wisconsin's farming. Now the stress falls on more economical production and better marketing methods," said Philip Gates '21, chairman of the agricultural exhibits.

"All of the seventeen departments of the college are working on a composite picture of the state's agriculture. Half of the gymnasium annex will be devoted to these exhibits and demonstrations."

A model cottage with a tea room where meals will be served is the plan of the Home Economics school. A demonstration room working out the problems of a family budget and a model laundry are additional features of this part of the exhibit.

All exhibits and demonstrations will reflect the advance that is being made in thought and practice on Wisconsin farms and the state's agricultural laboratories.

The slogan of the college display is "Just so far as the farm is progressive can the state and the nation be progressive."

WHY TEACHER FUND IS SHORT

Plans to Assure Annuities Outlined by Charles Brooks

Former Insurance Commissioner Herman L. Ekern, and Charles E. Brooks, actuary, were employed by the special legislative investigating committee to assist in the investigation and preparation of Bill No. 231, S., relating to the teachers' retirement fund.—Editor's Note.

BY CHARLES E. BROOKS, ACTUARY.

There are at present 14,000 teachers who are members of the Teachers' Insurance and Retirement fund, and 365 living annuitants. By the end of 40 years, the members who are now teaching will either have left the service of the Wisconsin schools or will have retired upon their annuities. By the end of 80 years from now, all of the present teachers, with the possible exception of one or two who live out a century, will have passed away. The annuity payments to be made by the fund to its present members will amount all told to many millions of dollars. These payments will have all been made, and the state wiped clean, by the end of the present century.

To make these annuity payments as they fall due year by year, the fund has to rely upon the resources made available by the law. These resources consist of:

(a) The present assets of the fund.

(b) The future contributions of the present teachers.

(c) The future appropriations by the state.

The legislative committee has had made a computation of the amount which will be required to meet all of these future annuity payments, and also of the resources which will be available under the law for meeting them. When all of the different details entering into the situation are duly considered, it is found that the two sides of the ledger do not balance; the annuity payments will far exceed the funds which will be available. In fact, it is found that the resources will only be sufficient to pay at the rate of twenty-three cents on the dollar.

It is true that the fund now (March, 1921) has on hand assets amounting to approximately $800,000. This money is ample to meet all payments falling due in the near future; but if payments at the full scale for annuities are continued the time will soon come when it will be exhausted, and after that annuity payments will necessarily be limited to the current income available which will be far short of the amount required.

There are a number of plans by which this situation can be dealt with. The most unsatisfactory one is that provided in the present law, which will have to be employed unless the law is changed. If no change in the law is made, the annuities will have to be reduced pro rata; that is, the fund will reduce annuity payments to twenty-three cents on the dollar of the amount promised. This simply means that the annuitants will have to stand the loss, amounting to 77 per cent of their annuities.

Another plan by which full payment of annuities could be assured would be to increase the contributions of the teacher enough to provide a sufficient income. This would require all teachers to contribute many times as much as they do at present. It would tax the teachers more than they could afford, and even then it would be unfair in that some teachers would be paying for the benefits of others.

Another plan would be for the state to appropriate and pay into the fund a sum sufficient to make good the difference between the amount required and the amount now provided. The amount which the state would have to appropriate now, to

FROST RAISES WHEAT PRICES

Cold Wave Causes Boost; Slight Reactions Follows

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO—Apprehension that freezing weather had done considerable damage to the new crop led to material upturns today in the price of wheat. A leading expert here, however, declared that unless the frosts were injured no harm would result than from running a mower over a lawn. He said new shocks and timely growth would follow. Opening prices which ranged from 10 cents to 2 1/2 cents higher with the 144 and 145 and 146 3/4 were succeeded by further gains and then by some reaction.

Difficulty of financing new export business was referred to and speculators were active sellers on the market. As a result most of the wheat failed to hold. The close was unsettled but not lower to 10 1/2 with May 14 3/4 and July 10 1/2.

Corn. The market opened with wheat steady. After opening 14 1/2 to 15 1/2 cents including May 14 3/4 to 15 1/2, the market eased off a little and then moved again.

At the market declined in the absence of any urgent buying. The close was easy but not lower to 10 1/2 with May 14 3/4 and July 10 1/2.

Oats. The market was firmer with other cereals starting unchanged to 1/2 cent higher May 10 1/2 to 11 1/2 and continuing to average above yesterday's finish.

Provisions. Weakness in the hog market operated as a drag on provisions.

STOCK MARKET SLUMPS TODAY

Leading Shares Are Under Renewed Pressure at Opening

NEW YORK—Although overnight advances, especially as to industrial conditions, were reassuring the leading shares were under pronounced pressure in the early stages of today's stock market. Motors, oils, steels, equipments and tobaccos were the objects of renewed short selling. American Locomotive, Petroleum, American Smelting and Refining, American Sugar, American Tobacco, American Telephone and Telegraph, American Woolen, were lower by large fractions to 1 1/2 points. American Telephone increased its price to almost 8 points later. Advances elsewhere were fairly well maintained, investment rails sharing in the rise. The close was strong.

Common People Have But Little to Expect From the Present Session.

It is time that Wisconsin should have a legislature that will represent the people of the state and not those who roll into Madison in parlor cars.

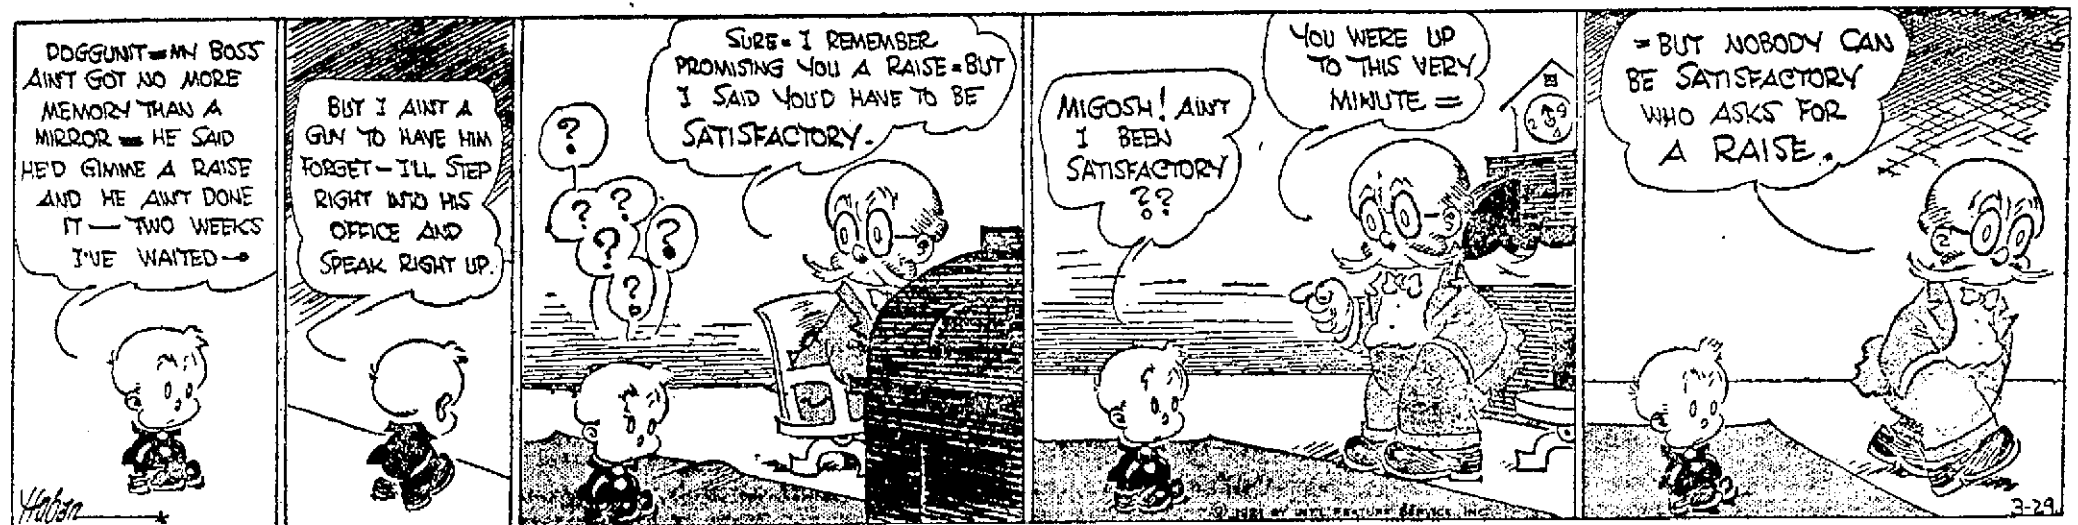

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, the third member, has been in favor of the Roosevelt conservation program, and opposed to the power trust.

THE WAR PROFITS.
To the Editor of the Capital Times:
What a fine Sojourn at Madison memorializing Congress at Washington to investigate those 22,000 or more millionaires made during the war, the how, the why and the wherefore they got that money. That 660 millions the government furnished to construct aeroplanes and got a very few, if these did not come to the appropriation when the rest go? That Hog Island shipbuilding concern won one patriotic dollar a year pettioteer got six million for turning contracts over from the government to the contractor. Also something shady about that sobbing steel trust magnate.

The same with the Barneh-Guggenheim copper deals promising the government copper at 16 cts. a lb. the big holler in the kept for the time of this generous act, but when it came to the settlement they charged 27 cts. a lb. When the war was over the copper the government had on hand these copper magnates bought back again for 15 cts. a lb. one cent less than they promised to sell it for. Then the nitrate plants and all these different deals. If they figure up all the government spent and what they can account for there 22,000.

Also memorialize that from the time war is declared until peace is signed or 5 years after: that no citizen in the U. S. shall be entitled to an income of more than $5,000 a year, or a little better as our Sr. Senator from Wisconsin had it at the beginning of the war an 8 per cent tax on swollen profits. Don't you Mr. Citizen think this would have been just the stuff now? Taxes would have come from where they should have, from those who did not sacrifice a son, but made money from the misery of their fellowmen.

The soldiers and officers, one is not any better than the other, the soldier besides losing his income received $30 a month besides a good chance of getting killed or maimed for life. Is there any greater sacrifice than this? Yet the 5 per cent of the people of the U. S. who own and control 90 per cent of the wealth were made multi millionaires and billionaires with the added 22,000. Was there any sacrifice in this? Yet they kick on a profit tax.

Besides this when the soldier comes back he is made to help pay for the war with the other 35 per cent of the people. Is it justice to the 5 per cent with the rest of us to back and protect them and their sacred skins?

Also memorialize Congress that in time of peace there shall be a graduated tax on all incomes up to $50,000

AT THE STRAND
Douglas Fairbanks will be seen as a dyed-in-the-wool Greenwich Villager in his new production, "The Nut," which will be shown at the Strand theater Wednesday to Saturday. As a wealthy young fellow whose hobby is invention, he adopts all the eccentricities and Bohemianism attributed to the people of the famous quarter.

Bob Daniels in "She Couldn't Help It" and Patty Auduback in "Out West" will be the attraction at the Strand for the last times today.

AT THE FULLER
An event that will be looked forward to by theatergoers with more than ordinary interest will be the coming of Jack Norworth, the noted musical comedy favorite who is to appear at the Fuller theater Saturday matinee and night, at the head of his own company in the scintillating comedy success, "My Lady Friends."

As to the merits of this play little need be said, as it is regarded as the coming gem of all last season's offerings, and remained nearly a year at the Comedy theater in New York.

with a 100 per cent tax on all in excess. Lets all have a chance to live. An Observer.

AT THE GRAND
"The Kid," Chaplin's new picture now showing at the Grand, is the picture which was involved in his divorce suit and was tied up in court for a long time. A six reel picture is something new for Charlie. It was made with a special effort to please women. There are no cabs and many laughs in the six reels. It is probably the funniest thing he ever did. Little Jackie Coogan, as the Kid comes in for a considerable portion of the popularity of the film.

Because of strong vein of pathos Chaplin's unusual comedy talent stands out stronger and more poignant than in any previous production of his. There are five characters, the man, the woman, the kid, the tramp and the policeman. Chaplin is the tramp.

AT THE ORPHEUM.
Klone La Mar, who sees and knows, tells all that is worth telling, is a feature act at the Orpheum for the first bill this week. Her ability is especially entertaining to those who are dubious about any particular problem at this time. How she does it is a mystery to the layman because it all seems so baffling and we know that it is done some way. Lane and Moran with the essential foolishness of the trade, have a little bit of fun and

OH, VERY WELL.
Gosh darn it! I'm angry at seeing my stuff
Printed down in the column so far: I've maintained a silence about long enough.
I'll tell the whole world that it's tough.
My goat has departed, I'm gonna get rough
If you don't give me service, by gosh!

For once in a lifetime I wish you would place
An effusion of mine where I say,
I ask you, with less than my usual grace, melody called "Listen Mickey." They are clever dancers and not bad singers. Hazel Harrington and her company repair the broken marital relations of a temperamental pair during the dialogue of "Pairs Repaired." The sketch moves fast with a competent cast keeping things on the move all the time. Rosa Claire has our modes and models of the next decade outlined very neatly in "Looking Ahead." The Garcinetti brothers are expert hat throwers and tumblers who give the audience a little exercise with a big rubber ball. The last number is Lonis Hart's dream of the bean stalk and Jack the Giant Killer in which he exhibits his marvelous macabre.

With a hint of command, and o make a trace
But the fact remains—either ie this set the pace
Or (God forbid) throw it away.
—R. M. T.

Caproni is building an airship the will carry 300 passengers from Italy to America in thirty-six hours. The prospectus does not talk about how it will carry from America to Italy; in the same length of time, but probably not quite so many, because the Americans are a little heavier.

An Ohio cemetery has been presented, to President Harding. This is no personal reflection at all, as it has been presented to twenty-two other presidents and they all have refused to use it. Presidents seem to be naturally superstitious about accepting that burying place.

BUT THERE AIN'T NO SUCH MAN.

Dr. Copela tells us that 100,000 families New York are living with other families, and that this is a wrong. But it is sort of consoling to see somebody put over on the landlords occasionally.
